

The FCC is in place to protect and serve the public good in regards to information distribution throughout our country. The rules you develop should serve the public, rather than private, interest. I oppose taking a vote that leads to more media consolidation. This is clearly not a policy direction that supports the public good as it further discourages the development of a variety of news sources representing various points of view. Leave the economy to Alan Greenspan. Your job is serve the public good in regards to airwaves and information distribution. On June 2nd, I urge you to retain the current ownership rules.
